2015 ANNUAL REPORT
Uniting head, hands, and heart

THE University of Vermont HEALTH NETWORK

Champlain Valley Physicians Hospital
The heart and science of medicine.
The story goes that on Christmas Day in 1922, Mr. and Mrs. William Miner were having dinner with their good friends, Dr. and Mrs. Cassius Silver. The discussion, as it nearly always did, turned to the state of health care in the North Country. Dr. Silver said he’d like to build a new hospital in Plattsburgh. After the dinner, the four walked down Beekman Street and Mr. Miner turned to his wife and said, “Alice, you pick the spot.”

What followed was a new and exciting era of health care for the North Country. True to his reputation, no expense was spared in building the 212-bed Physicians Hospital at 100 Beekman Street. Those who came to the facility expected the best health care and they received it. The staff, from the men and women who prepared the meals to those who performed surgeries in the four operating rooms, were dedicated to excellence and to perfecting their skills and the care they provided.

They knew they were part of something special and took great pride in doing their best for themselves and their friends and neighbors. Mr. Miner would have it no other way.

OUR LEGACY CONTINUES TODAY

We are the living legacy of his contributions to health care, but his reach went beyond the walls of Physicians Hospital. Establishing Heart’s Delight Farm, which became Miner Institute; the first central school district in the country, funding two local museums – one that bears his beloved wife’s name – and building several dams and powerhouses that provided electricity to his farm, the school and the surrounding community are just some of the many accomplishments of this man who came from small beginnings. His holistic approach to life and learning included knowledge, practice and compassion. As Joseph Burke, Ph.d., author of William H. Miner: The Man & The Myth pointed out, “He repeatedly returned to the theme that true education must combine theory, practice and feelings, for true learning required head, hand and heart.”

Bolstered by Mr. Miner’s principles, we step into the future, once again paving the way in this community to a higher level of care. It makes good sense for us, at this juncture in our history, to reach back to our roots for a strong foothold on our future. We can learn from Mr. Miner’s passion for excellence, his commitment to the greater good and his belief that by working together, great things can happen.

As part of The University of Vermont Health Network, we are realizing the true benefit of partnership. Our Network’s vision and strategic areas of focus give us a roadmap as we sculpt the future of the health care in this region.

OUR GUIDING PRINCIPLE
Every day, I devote my head, hands and heart to my patients, my peers and my community.
William Miner loved the sprawling farm that he built in Chazy, calling it his “Heart’s Delight.” But just as important, he loved the entire North Country and its people. The hospital that he built in Plattsburgh—now Champlain Valley Physicians Hospital—keeps his legacy alive and vibrant within the community with state-of-the-art facilities and a talented staff dedicated to William Miner’s insistence on excellence.

Rick Grant, President, Miner Institute
Every Day, I Devote My Head, Hands and Heart to My Patients, My Peers and My Community

WE ALL PLAY A ROLE IN UNITING HEAD, HANDS AND HEART FOR PATIENTS AND EACH OTHER.

Every one of us has a gift for embracing our guiding principle and making a difference in the lives of those we serve and those we work with. Together, we bring out the very best in each other while strengthening our knowledge of medicine, our skills to practice it and our compassion for others.
We Are All Leaders

The complexity of health care requires all to give their best—to take personal responsibility while understanding that it’s a true team effort. At CVPH, everyone is a leader. We approach our responsibility to care for our patients with a sense of pride and commitment to doing our best and promise to keep learning new ways to do it better. We come together, sharing our expertise, ideas and passion to achieve many great things:

• We marked more than 1,500 days without a ventilator-associated pneumonia.

• The improved turnaround time for clostridium difficile, or c-diff, test results from 3 hours to about 90 minutes has greatly impacted the care of patients with this troublesome spore. Testing, now also available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, is a marked improvement from the once-a-day batching regime.

• New technology was also introduced to improve the turnaround for methicillin resistant staphylococcus aureus (MRSA) testing from 24 to 48 hours to 90 minutes which significantly impacts isolation and staff decision-making. MRSA is a staph bacteria that becomes resistant to many antibiotics and requires special patient precautions that include isolation.

• Joining the University Health System Consortium (UHC), a nation-wide group of academic health systems focused on quality and accountability, gives us valuable clinical benchmarking data and allows us to compare our clinical outcomes to similar hospitals around the country.

• A dedicated team of health care providers successfully reduced pressure ulcers in our inpatient population by 48%.

• Patient falls have been significantly reduced through a number of multidisciplinary efforts including the development of a program staffed by specially trained volunteers who visit patients determined to be at risk for falling.

• A safe patient handling initiative—targeting both patients and staff—has reduced the number of work-related injuries.

• Predictive Discharges, a new initiative, uses a teletracking system to identify patients who are potentially ready for discharge and prompts the review of milestones that need to be met for the actual discharge to occur.

• The first class of registered nurses from the SUNY Plattsburgh extension site program at CVPH graduated, as did 10 radiologic technologists from the School of Radiologic Technology.
• ICD–10, a new clinical cataloging system, was launched in October. This new system accounts for modern advances in clinical treatment and medical devices and offers many more classification options.

• A software upgrade, Mother/Baby Link, was implemented at the Alice T. Miner Women and Children’s Center (CWC), thanks to the combined efforts of staff from CWC, Information Services and Support (ISS) and the software vendor, GE. A primary benefit of this upgrade is that all three parts of the unit—Labor and Delivery, Nursery and Post Partum—have access to the same electronic medical record.

• Nutrition Services Director, Shey Schnell, and Clinical Operations Supervisor, Eric Gadway, RN, earned recognition for their poster presentation on the relationship between hand grip strength and malnutrition at the Jeffords Institute of Quality and Operational Effectiveness. The two are currently working on an article for the American Journal of Nursing.

• Cardiac Rehabilitation earned a three-year recertification by the American Association of Cardiovascular and Pulmonary Rehabilitation (AACVPR). The Cardiac Rehabilitation Team was recognized for its commitment to improving the quality of life by enhancing standards of care.

• The Endoscopy Team earned a three-year renewal recognition for quality and safety from the American Society of Gastrointestinal Endoscopy (ASGE), a leading gastrointestinal medical society.

• The Pharmacy Residency Program earned accreditation from the American Society of Health-System Pharmacists (AHSP).

• The Champlain Valley Physicians Hospital Family Medicine Residency has established a great foothold on a successful future by earning Accreditation for Graduate Medical Education (ACGME), welcoming Jose Lopez, MD as its new director and receiving a $1 million endowment from the William H. Miner Foundation.
The key to our future success is fostering an environment where professional growth, personal accountability and pride in collective accomplishments are enveloped in everything we do.
• The Women’s Imaging Center installed 3D mammography which increases detection of invasive breast cancers as well as reduces the number of false positive recall rates.

• Interventional Cardiology reached an impressive milestone performing its 5,000th life-saving percutaneous coronary intervention (PCI) in early March.

• The Joint Care Center, a comprehensive program based on a national best practice model for elective hip and knee replacements, celebrated its first year by exceeding expectations on patient satisfaction, outperforming other New York hospitals by 14%. The program is structured around the fundamental principle of wellness and was designed by a team of medical surgical nurses, occupational therapists, case managers, perioperative nurses, volunteers and physicians.

• The construction of a 2,000 square foot addition to house new Interventional Radiology (IR) suites began in November. The two-story structure, located on the north side of the campus, near the MRI and Emergency Department, will be part of the Radiology Department. Two interventional radiologists, Julio Lamos, MD, and William Pace, MD and three vascular surgeons, Craig Nachbauer, MD, Theodore Pabst, MD, and Claude Roland, MD, have shared a single angiography suite within the Radiology Department. The additional space will enable these physicians to schedule their patients more promptly. The state-of-the-art facility will also enhance the ability of the interventional radiologists to provide minimally invasive therapies for a variety of nonvascular diseases including cancer. Patient benefits include a quicker recovery, less pain and reduced risk of complications.

• The University of Vermont Health Network continued its collaborative work and two other facilities, Alice Hyde Medical Center in Malone and Inter-Lakes Health in Ticonderoga, took additional steps to become part of our mission to build an integrative health care system in the region. Alice Hyde signed a Letter of Intent while Inter-Lakes signed a Memorandum of Understanding.

As part of The UVM Health Network, we are realizing the true benefit of partnership.
The Family Medicine Residency interviewed 80 applicants after receiving 1,500 applications from medical students located across the globe. Once the interviews were complete, the Residency team ranked the applicants and submitted that documentation to the National Resident Matching Program and the medical students did the same. The first class of Family Medicine residents will be welcomed to Plattsburgh in July of 2016.

The exploration of Magnet status began in 2015 with a kickoff that included a poignant presentation from Marcus Engel, inspirational speaker and author of The Other End of the Stethoscope. American Nurses Credentialing Center’s (ANCC) Magnet designation is the most prestigious credential a health care organization can achieve for nursing excellence and quality patient care. Magnet designation can bring many benefits to our organization including improved patient safety, nurse satisfaction and retention, exceptional patient outcomes and reduced costs. The focus on outcomes helps all organizations demonstrate the value nursing brings to the patient, organization and our community.

Michelle LeBeau was promoted to the Chief Operating Officer and Chief Nursing Officer, replacing Debra Donahue who retired after an impressive 35-year career at CVPH. LeBeau, who is a registered nurse and previously served as a Vice President of Human Resources, has also worked in the Intensive Care Unit and in Occupational Health & Wellness.

Twenty-four new physicians and eight nurse practitioners and physician assistants joined our medical staff. Each brings with them a unique set of skills and backgrounds which enhance the care provided here.

We Are One Team

The men and women who devote themselves to caring for others are indeed a very special group. As we, and the rest of the health care industry transition to value-based care, it’s clear that those providing and supporting exceptional care are key to a successful future. Their commitment to our patients and passion for extraordinary care sets us apart. We have been fortunate, throughout our long history, to have some of the very best walk our corridors. Supporting professional and personal growth, celebrating accomplishments and working together to create a culture of quality and safety is vital to our future.
• The launch of CVPH People: Everyday Extraordinary project has introduced the community and other CVPH employees to staff members who have touched lives and made their way into our hearts.

• CVPH Occupational Health & Wellness is at the forefront of fostering an engaging and nurturing culture for staff. A variety of new programs, addressing concerns like stress relief, financial wellbeing, addiction, healthy lifestyle choices and recreation are spearheaded.

• The very successful staff-initiated Nurse Liaison Program assigns a Perioperative staff member to the families of surgical, cardiac catheterization and interventional radiology patients. Improved communication between the patient’s care team and the family is the primary goal of the program, but it also alleviates stress on the nurses caring for the patients. Nurses saw a need to keep patient families better informed and were encouraged to develop this service which has improved patient satisfaction.

• The introduction to Just Culture Certification by Learning & Development has created a greater awareness of the importance of responding to issues and problems in a manner that is not punitive, but instead seeks to understand the systems that may have contributed to the situation. It supports a culture where employees are engaged and it values continuous learning and a safe work environment.
Miner’s holistic approach to life and learning included knowledge, practice and compassion.

• Hospital Week, celebrated during the first full week of May, is dedicated to celebrating employees marking their anniversaries of hire. These celebrations routinely include people who have dedicated 40-plus years of their lives to caring for others at CVPH. BBQs, photo displays and public recognition of the team that has established CVPH as an outstanding health care facility are highlights of the week.

• Two registered nurses, Rian Rock and Emily Reding, were chosen to participate in the Felis Nursing Scholarship program in a collaborative workshop with The University of Vermont Medical Center.

• Employees of Champlain Valley Health Network (CVHN) were welcomed as employees to CVPH in a move that also changed the name of the entity that manages physician practices to CVPH Medical Group Management.

• Renovations to the medical surgical units were completed and now, all acute care patient rooms are private. The renovation project offered not only cosmetic improvements to the patient care areas but also enhanced patient safety and infection control efforts.

• Renovations to the Wellness & Fitness Center, one of our off-site facilities, included new equipment and cosmetic changes to improve the experience for our clients and patients.
William Miner believed that by working together, great things could happen.
Nature’s Way Mother’s Café opened its doors to families in the Plattsburgh community. Located within the House of Prayer at 63 Broad Street, the Café offers breastfeeding moms and babies a place to gather, find support and learn more about the benefits of breastfeeding.

Hugs and Kisses, the llamas in the CVPH petting zoo, retired in April. Shortly after, four spritely alpacas—Casper, Camaro, Baako Blue and Corona Sun—were welcomed to the CVPH family.

Volunteers regularly play the piano in our lobby filling the first floor of CVPH with soothing music. The piano was generously donated by Associate Vice President Julie Brunell, RN, PhD, and her family.

The petting zoo, the piano music in the hospital lobby and local artwork displayed throughout the facility are part of our growing Integrative Therapy program. Driven by a need to meet the spiritual and psychological needs, as well as the physical needs of our patients, we’re offering them the option to include a number of evidence-based holistic therapies in their health care. Craniosacral therapy, myofascial release, healing touch, Palliative Care, Pet Therapy and Spiritual Care are also available to patients.

In November, the Intensive Care Unit (ICU) was renamed the Dr. Robert L. Collins Intensive Care Unit as a tribute to this beloved physician, leader, father and friend. A memorial, which includes his trademark orange Crocs™, is located in the ICU Waiting Area. Intensive Care Unit staff members often touch a photo of the late Dr. Collins, displayed near the employee entrance of the unit, before starting each shift. It’s done as a reminder to themselves to be their best for their patients. A memorial award, in honor of a CVPH employee or physician who embodies many of Dr. Collin’s qualities, has been established. An annual lecture in his name is also planned.

The United Way Campaign, a coat drive to benefit JCEO, partnerships with the Christmas Bureau and the Clinton County Department of Social Services to provide the less fortunate in our community with a bountiful Christmas are a few of the many philanthropic endeavors undertaken by CVPH employees. A basket raffle to support the Janice McLean Fund, held by the Foundation of CVPH, raised $26,307, and helps provide no-interest loans to employees in crisis. Throughout the year, departments rally around coworkers in need or a cause that touches their hearts.

• Staff at the Diagnostic Center found a unique way to connect with their patients. They painted tiles in support of a number of important causes and have helped promote awareness about many health related issues and concerns. Shannon Creller, Nicole Comick and Tawnia Boire have painted hundreds of ceiling tiles that now adorn the Diagnostic Center and plan to move their healing art to the main campus lab area.

• Partnering with our local apple farmers, CVPH hosted its first Apple Fest in the fall and invited staff to sample some of the local flavor.

• Purple ribbons were hung in October in support of the Stop Domestic Violence Program.

• We hosted the Rotary Winter Carnival and joined forces with the Plattsburgh Kiwanis Group for the Big K fundraiser.
A philanthropic vision began the legacy of excellent health care in the North Country many years ago. William H. and Alice T. Miner were two of several leaders in the early 20th Century who created a foundation of quality health care for this region. Their vision has grown steadily and now is an integral part of the fabric of this community, improving both the quality of health care and the quality of life for residents throughout the region.

William Miner was such a huge believer and investor in three fundamental areas—agriculture, education and health care—that his legacy continues through a special foundation created to support the William H. Miner Agricultural Research Institute, Chazy Central Rural School and CVPH.

Development of the CVPH Family Medicine Residency, which will train family practice residents here in the North Country, is a marriage of two of Mr. Miner’s loves: education and health care. With that in mind, the Trustees of the Miner Foundation made a $1 million pledge to help establish the Residency, believing... that Mr. Miner would be elated to be part of this endeavor.

The Foundation of CVPH Board of Directors strongly believes in the value that the Residency program will bring to our region. Primary care is the basis for good health and the Miner Foundation’s pledge will not only help take this program to the next level, but hopefully inspire others to give as well.

FOUNDATION PROGRAMMING REACHES FAR BEYOND HOSPITAL WALLS

The Foundation of CVPH started off 2015 with a new fundraiser—Stepping Out For Your Heart—which was developed in partnership with a dynamic group of women with a passion for educating other women about heart disease.

The dinner and educational program raised $20,000 to support community heart health screenings of which two were held within the year and over 120 people were screened. Of those screened, 80% had some sort of abnormal test results and were referred to their primary care physician for follow up.

There are many great organizations within our community that are providing programs to elevate the health of our residents and often, there is a program that needs an extra boost in funding to accomplish its goals. In 2015, The Foundation partnered with five different agencies to make an impact on community health, including backpack projects with JCEO and Ticonderoga Kiwanis, sending kids home from school with food on the weekends to ensure they have enough nourishment and with the Sheriff’s Department to help expand the DARE program in schools.
Over the next two years, The Foundation is partnering with the New York State Health Foundation to administer a $200,000 grant to improve access to physical activity opportunities in Clinton County. Through a combined effort, we are expanding the popular pickleball game with more courts around the county, building one or more soccer-golf courses and creating fitness-in-the-parks programs.

Every year, Foundation supporters are helping nearly 200 patients access essential health care. Whether it’s a patient traveling from Ellenburg to CVPH 40 times for chemotherapy treatments or a patient needing specialized care in Burlington or Boston—helping with the cost of gas, ferry tickets and a hotel can make a difference as to whether or not that person can get the care they need.

ENHANCING CARE IN OUR LOCAL HOSPITAL
Hospital support is a large part of how donations are enhancing patient care at our local hospital. In 2015, 29 grant requests were awarded throughout the hospital, totaling $125,000 in funds. Among the many grants was a pressure mapping system to recommend the best cushion for patients who are wheelchair-bound and a special backboard for EMTs to use which will provide more comfort for patients than the old-style straight boards. Requests always outweigh what we have to spend; this coming year, we’ll be expanding the award amount to $150,000.

Additional funds are also allocated to encourage and support CVPH staff to continue their learning, whether through college courses, conferences or certificate programs. With continued learning comes enhanced skillsets at the bedside and even better care for our patients. In 2015, there were 50 employees who received scholarships.

EVERY DONATION MAKES A DIFFERENCE
By supporting our annual campaign, playing in a golf tournament, attending an event or making a gift in memory of a loved one, you are joining others in changing lives. The people who are helped, the programs that are funded, the care that is enhanced and the lives that are touched, are all possible because of your support. Our thanks goes to those named on the following pages:

2015 Financials

We are migrating toward a fiscal year from a calendar year and this report’s financial statement reflects that transition.
OUR GUIDING PRINCIPLE

Every day I devote my head, hands and heart to my patients, my peers and my community.
The heart and science of medicine.
